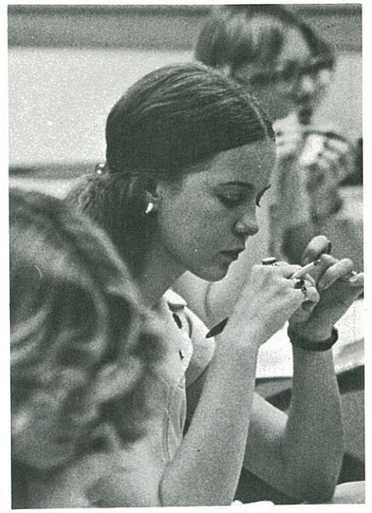
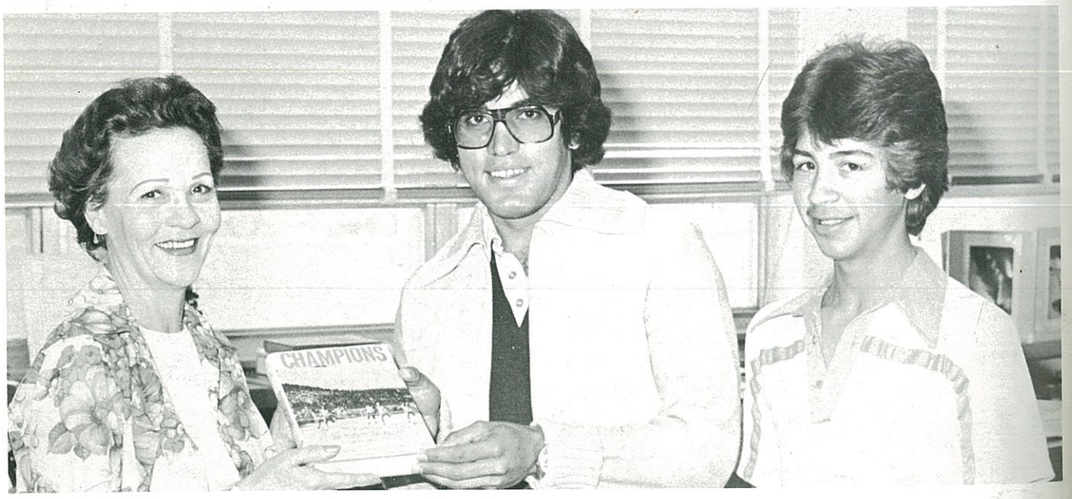
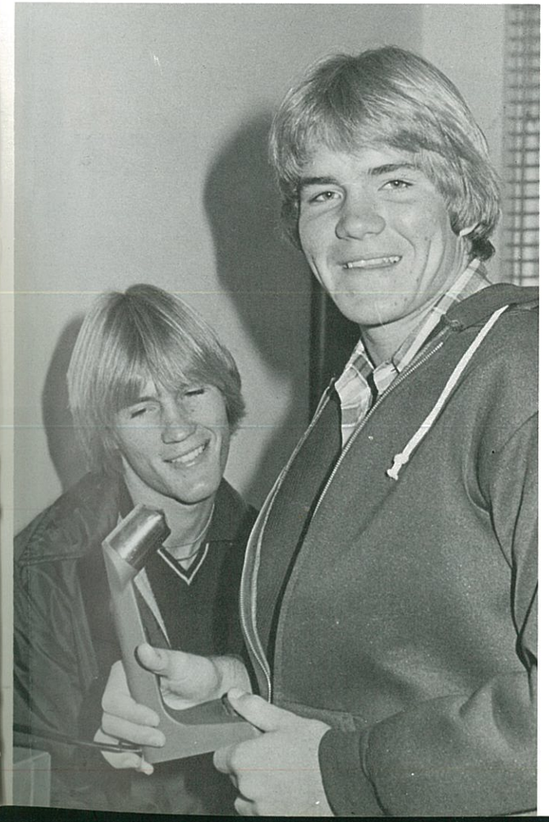
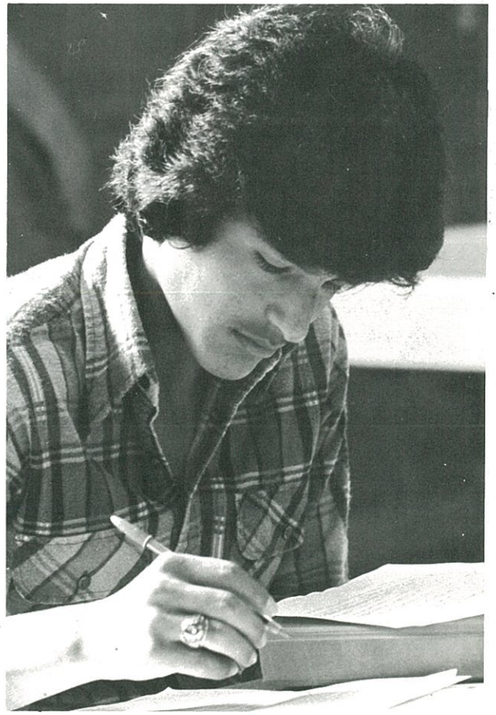
Remember learning? We learned how to diagram a sentence and how to figure out a tough problem in Geometry — or did we? We learned how it feels to win, and sometimes, how it feels to lose. We also learned about ourselves and about each other. We learned how people can change through the years; sometimes for the better, but other times, for the worse. Learning is a lifetime process.









So sit back and enjoy. Enjoy the games, the classes, and most of all, the people, as many times as you like. They will always be here, within these pages, because they-and you-made it "our turn to remember" for this year.
