

Everyone stops and listens to Mr. McGregor play a song for them.

Thespians Present First Production

Major stars pose for picture.

Abstract! Surrealistic! These are the words used to describe "My Heart's in the Highlands."

The Thespians presented William Saroyan's classic play on October 26.

The plot deals with the life of an unsuccessful poet during the first World War. Those with major roles were Ken Tankersley, Mike Evans, Martha Lawrence, Joe Rucker, Perry Anderson, Glenda Crawford, Larry Taylor, Melvin Bartley, Steve Flowers, Marty Mayer, Bill Styron and Carole Acy.

The entire play was based on the imagination, and the props and set designs were excellent. Concentration was essential to the understanding of the true meaning and the basic plot of the play. "My Heart's in the Highlands" was a fine example of true art in an abstract form.

"The Enchanted"

"THE ENCHANTED" is a comedy in three acts written by Jean Giraudoux. It was presented by the Junior Class December 14 and 15. The story is the biography of a critical moment when Isabelle turns from girlhood to womanhood. The eligible young man succeeds, and for Isabelle, as for all young girls, the adventure of love proves more attractive in the end than the adventure of death.

Mr. Wilmoth shows Robert and Mike how to act like criminals.

CAST

Jon Atwood
Burance Boles
Robert Fannin
Marty Mayer
Mike Breeding
Robert Roark
Mike Lambert
Carolyn Lowery
Carol Jones

Judy Compton
Ruthie McGuire
Pam Ramsey
Sue Adams
Donna Atwood
Judy Beeman
Maribeth Franklin
Myra Jo Lewis
Glenda McGill

Pam is telling Ruthie what Jon said, since Ruthie is deaf.

Everyone listens to Sue as she recites.