

FOREWORD

For centuries, sand sifting through an hour glass has been used to denote the passing of time. To us, especially, would this be true, because of our close association with sand. Thus we have chosen SAND as the theme of this yearbook, in hopes that, in more troublesome times, these pages may whisper memories of the laughter, color, fun, and excitement of 1955-56.

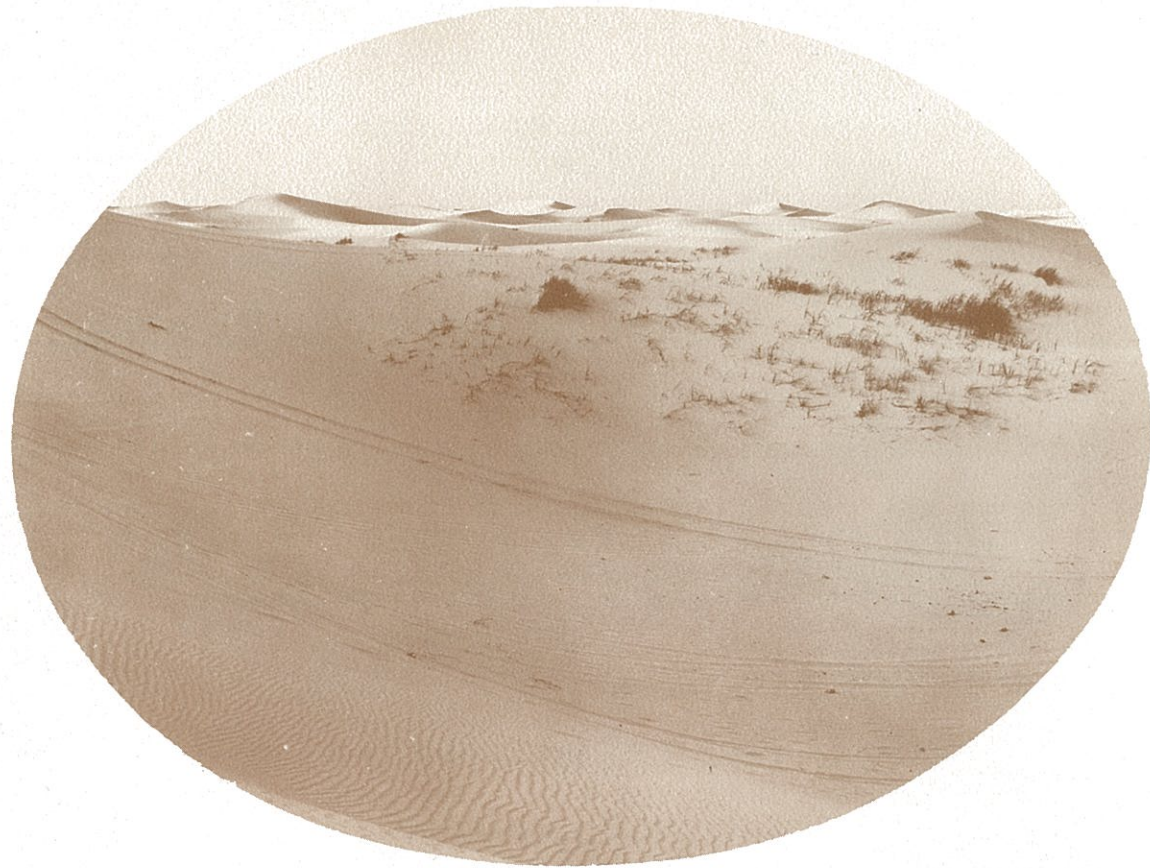

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Administration-Faculty.	7
Classes.	21
Sports	55
Activities.	77
Personalities	91
Highlights	101
Junior High	121

We sincerely dedicate this annual to MARY GIBBERT, an unforgettable personality, a brilliant woman, a talker with something to say, a teacher in the true sense. She is sharp, comical, witty, and wise; imparts wisdom in her own special way; is humorously sarcastic with her heart showing through; loves and outwits the boys (they try, but never get the last word or the best of her), can out think anybody any day; and we love her very much.