

The thought of pleasing you has been uppermost in our minds as we have worked this year in developing this, the 1943 "Sandstorm". It lies wholly within your judgement as to how close we have come to our goal.

We have not attempted to present a theme but rather have chosen to present in a pictorial manner Kermit High School as you have seen it from early September until the last of May. It is to be a record of the activities of the students and faculty in the classrooms and on the campus. There has also been the thought of showing you the school after seven years of growth.

If we have presented these things in a pleasing and satisfying manner and if you have caught some of the Kermit High School spirit in reliving these scenes, we are indeed satisfied.

Dedication

"Doc" is known and loved by all who are a part of K. H. S. from the lowliest freshman to the most Austere faculty member.

His kindly philosophy, his understanding love, and sympathy has been carried away in the hearts of many of K.H.S. students.

Who will ever forget "Doc's" beautiful whistling and the great work he has done for K. H. S?

To this one who embodies all the high ideals and the genuine concern for his students this 1943 Sandstorm is sincerely dedicated-----
