

SANDSTORM STAFF

The fact that none of these students have had any experience in publishing an Annual has not discouraged them from hard work. Experimenting with ideas and advice, they have worked steadily in the effort to produce the best year book in the history of KHS.

Typing, pasting up and taking pictures, and writing copy are a few of their duties. They have racked their brains for new and original ideas that would make an annual to be proud of.

Left to right: Fred Green, business manager; Nancy Mitchell, editor; Arthur Mullinax, Rob Mallow, sports editors; Joyce Stephens, Wanda Madison, feature editors; Floydean Wilburn, class editor; Alma Rhodes, associate editor; Wynell Clayborn, Eloise Hunt, typists; Perry Wilder, associate business manager; Betty Boone, Joy Moore, copy editors.

The staff of photographers have recorded in pictures the activities of KHS. Without them, the Sandstorm could not have been published.

Left to right: Wayne McClintock, Dewey Mitchell, Larry Spruill, head photographer; R. J. Smith and Andy McClintock.

The editorial staff was always on hand doing the work.

Left to right: Nancy Mitchell, editor; Miss Joyce Bell, sponsor; Alma Gene Rhodes and Floydean Wilburn, associate editors.

YELLOW JACKET STAFF

The school paper, published weekly during football season and bi-weekly thereafter, is a project of the journalism classes. The paper these students published won an award of merit in the Interscholastic League Press Convention contest.

Working on stories for the paper, journalism students Arthur Mullinax, Perry Wilder and Fred Green chat informally with Alma Gene Rhodes, Eloise Hunt and Wanda Madison. On center row are Nancy Mitchell, Rob Mallow and Joy Moore. Floydean Wilburn and Larry Spruill work at typewriters in foreground.

Left to right, Joyce Stephens, associate editor; Miss Joyce Bell, sponsor; and Floydean Wilburn, editor.

