

Leo Brooks throws the torch on the bonfire to begin the blaze.

Eddie Everett, Walter Durfey and Vickie Evans work hard to build the best bonfire ever.

Jerry Sims and Martha Bridges talk about the victorious game while enjoying the Homecoming Dance.

Barby Bewley pins Kermit colors on Travis Goodman while Pinkie Floyd watches.

Attendant Vicki Ray smiles happily as she is driven downtown during the Homecoming Parade.

Homecoming Highlighted by Pep Rally, Bonfire, Parade

Kermit Yellow Jackets showed their true spirit and really kept things humming during homecoming week.

The pep rally and color pinning ceremonies were very successful and every person showed his great determination for another victory.

Later, a parade through Kermit honored the girls nominated for homecoming queen.

The bonfire, successfully built in only a few short hours, stood tall and proud as did the many Jackets who worked on it. The captains of the football team ignited the bonfire and everyone desired victory more than ever before.

After a victorious game, a dance was held at the youth center.

Richard Dean helps unload a pickup for the bonfire.

