

1967— A Year to Remember

Memories are many different things that vary with each individual; however one common characteristic that all memories hold is that they are one of lifes most priceless possessions.

Memories vary from seconds to months to years, from individuals to unlimited groups, from the classroom to the athletic field, from honors to mischief.

Yes, there were many memories in 1967, some fond, some bitter. We, the 1967 Sandstorm staff, tried to capture some of these memories for you so that in future years you could recall the year that was 1967 just as you lived it at KHS.
