

Construction work for the play.

Celebration '76

Knight adds the final touch!

Planting of the American Flag.

Bobby on the warpath!

Heap good medicine man.

Saaay dude!

Ms. Prima Donna!

Sr. Play Transition.

Filming the 'Old West'

Sr. Play proclaimed a Bicentennial Celebration

Celebration '76 played to packed house on Dec. 12 and 13. The play sparkled with highlights; the Memorial Day Skit coming out as almost everyone's favorite. The planting of the American flag by the four soldiers was absolutely flawless.

Transition was stunning in their rhinestone-speckled black. Both "dolls" and "guys" were fantastic.

The American West, as depicted on The Living Screen, was another audience pleaser. The filming crew deserves accolades in capturing western "realism" in the silent movie.

The choir made a fitting contribution to the Fourth of July Skit. Dru Dawson has the forceful voice of a mayor, and Joey Cox-well, what can one say about Joey as a politician? He plays the role convincingly and humorously, both on stage and off.

Gayle Reeves and the stage band set the tempo with their lively and heady music.

JK and Seniors: "You, You're the Ones!"

By: Beth Manning