Directing the 1977-78 play presented by members of the Senior Class was Mr. Michael McNabb with assistance from Mr. Billy Parker. Additional assistance in producing the play and making it one of the more successful in recent years came from stage manager Sandra Hathorn and house manager Julie Smith.

Sidney (David Dillon) reads a letter from God to Joe (right-Sammy Hancock).

David (Craig Shores) staggers in — blind drunk, almost.

Martha (Becky Davis) and Mady (Lois Samford) along with the twins, Ben (Sandy Helmer) and Sarah (Victoria Spangler) and Sarah (Victoria Spangler) watch Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin fight . .

Ben (left), Sarah and Joe await "the prowler."

Rose (Toni Clark) tries to comfort Joe.

Shown riding in the annual Christmas Parade through downtown Kermit are (l-r) Toni Clark, Sammy Hancock, David Dillon, Sandy Helmer, Becky Davis and Craig Shores.

Look at the glorious faces of Mady and Martha as they tell of hearing the "prowler". Listening in the background are the twins, Ben and Sarah.
