

Local students took advantage of the annual Jaycee sponsored carnival that arrived just before school ended. Mike Parks served as the "dunk-ee" and is shown going down and (right) being saved by his rubber duck. Another source of fun was the bumper car attraction — with or without driver's licenses.

Dunking Booths, Zippers And Bumper-Cars Pay A Visit To Kermit

The bright lights of the carnival seemed to provide even more cause for activity as music and students found a multitude of games and rides to express some emotions. Here April Subia (left) and Roxi Rayos seem to be undecided about which ride is to be next.

Fun Explodes When The Carnival Comes To Town

"This is the stuffed animal I plan to win," says Jerome Wright at the carnival. Reece Field manages to add some moral support.
