

Dauber football coaches Kirby Lackey and Billy Stevens give last minute words of advice to the KJHS gridiron squad before the game starts.

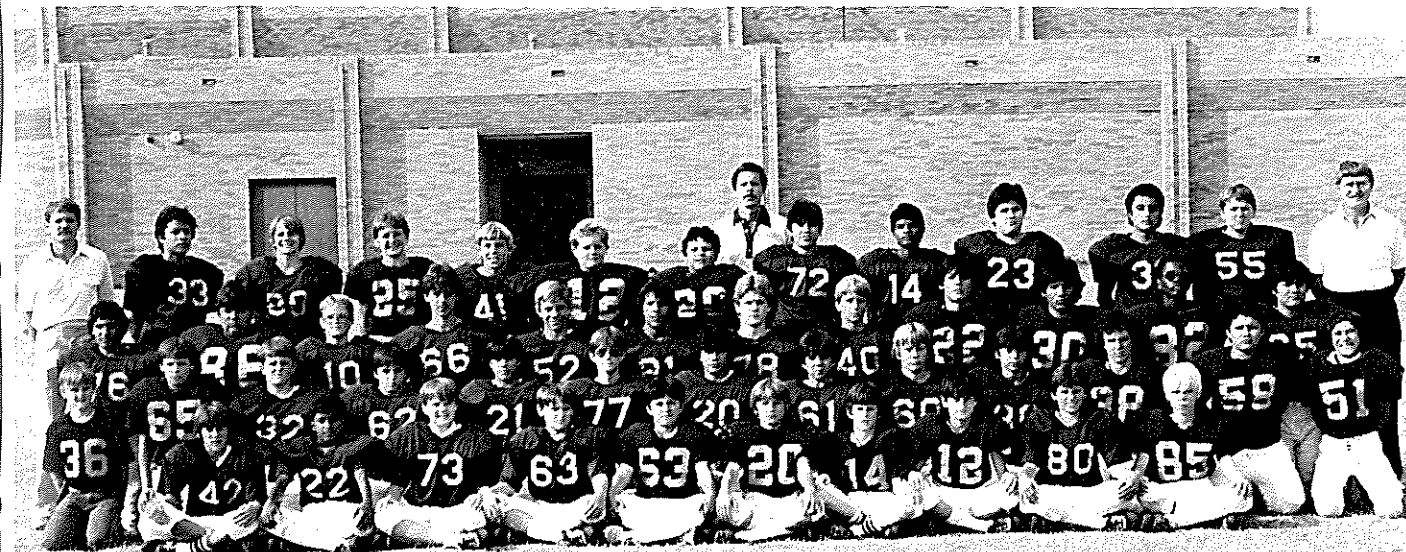

Running back Ray Gonzales puts a move on this defensive back as Duke Carter looks for someone to block.

The eighth grade Dauber defensive squad continued to make their presence felt throughout the 1985 season and squad members are shown sacking the opposing quarterback.

Junior Daubers Learn Football Skills

As the 1985-86 seventh grade football season began, a tremendous number of prospective athletes wanted to play. Members of the team included FRONT ROW Scott Isbel, Les Porras, Michael Payne, Jason Smith, Johnny Martinez, Scott Nicholson, Andy Fires, Michael Lopez, Jonas Edwards, Chris Carlisle; SECOND ROW manager Jeff Rea, Shane McKenzie, James Bush, Brian Mobley, Judit Lujan, Timothy Bowden, Ronnie Martinez, Alfred Galindo, Mike Sweeten, Joe Roman, Corey Trammel, Rigo Juarez and Kenny Wise; THIRD ROW Jesse Alvarado, Danny Smith, Dewayne Brown, Gary Bradford, Timmy Caldwell, Darrell Pando, Bryan Bentley, Byron Heiser, Saul Rodriguez, Arthur Moralez, Harry Dawson, Daniel Garcia; BACK ROW Coach Doug Nall, Carlos Garcia, Tony Halterman, Bobby Riley, Quinn Heath, Jason Hicks, Mickey Hernandez, Coach Mark Lesosky, Adrian Dominguez, Junior Lara, Oscar Juarez, Joe Bravo, Paul Sewell and Coach Gordon Oglesby.

The 1985-86 football season was a very memorable one for members of the seventh grade class. This was not only their first year to participate in organized football, but a winning season, too.

Under the guidance of Coaches Gordon Oglesby, Doug Nall and Mark Lesosky the seventh grade unit learned basic football skills and then put them to work against their opponents.

Overall, the Junior Daubers collected seven victories and lost only two games.

Running back Ronnie Martinez breaks into the open and is shown scampering for a Dauber first down.
