

The Freshman Class History

BOBBIE WALL
President

The Freshman class of 1930-31 has gathered for, it would seem, two purposes: first, to get as much knowledge as possible with as little effort as possible; and second, they have gathered together under an excellent sponsor, the highly esteemed head of the department of mathematics, to keep up the school and class spirit and to make so much friendly competition that the work will become play.

The Freshman class is divided into three sections in every department and the competition between the classes promotes hard work and honest effort.

"Now bear in mind, students," that "you want to remember" to "ask questions about what you do not understand" is the adage of the Wink High faculty. The study hall which is the delight of the Freshman, is ruled over by a gently upraised hand and a gentle but firm "sh-h-h-h."

The Freshman class can make the proud statement that it is the largest class the Wink High School has ever known and is still the largest class. Every student strives to make this the best as well as the largest class.

This class represents over twenty-five states of the Union. It might be said that the class was gathered from the four corners of the United States. However, Texas claims the largest number.

Perhaps the good organization of the class is due to the conscientious work of the officers. The president, Bobby Wall, is of high standing in the estimation of teachers and pupils alike. By his efforts the class has enjoyed a few picnics and gay reveries.
