TASTE AND BASTE CLUB

When we are receiving our education, it is well to train ourselves in all branches of learning. To a girls, not the least of these is the domestic branch. For years woman's only place was in the home. Today we realize how foolish that idea is, but still we know that home life plays a large part in the life of every woman. So it is well for a girl to learn to cook and sew, for almost every girl has, in the back of her head, a dream of a cozy little home in the future.

This club of young home-builders of the future was organized in October, 1929. These young cooks and seamstresses selected as their motto: "As our girlhood is, so shall our womanhood be." The first term of school the members spent many delightful hours poring over dainty stitches in fancy work. Just before Christmas these articles were exhibited and sold in a bazaar held to raise funds for the Wildcat. Then the club purchased pencils with their name on them and sold them to raise funds for the same purpose.

ALOHA HANTA CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The Aloha Hanta Camp Fire group received its charter and started out at once working for the honors.

Each member strove very hard to become a "Wood-Gatherer," which is the first rank a Camp Fire may attain. To win this rank proves that each girl is sincere in her ideals. As soon as a girl reaches this rank, she is allowed to wear the ceremonial gown. It was the wish and aim of each to wear this gown at the Grand Council at the close of school.

In order to attain the rank of Wood Gatherer, each member must fulfill the following requirements:

1. Must have been a member for at least two months.

2. Must have attended six weekly meetings and two ceremonial meetings.

3. Must be able to repeat the Wood Gatherer's Desire.

4. Must have a name and symbol.

5. Must have made a headband with symbol as design.

6. Must have won in addition to the above, fourteen elective honors, three of which must be chosen from Home Craft, three from Citizenship Craft or Patriotism and three from Nature Craft. Craft beads are awarded for the fourteen elective honors.

The officers of this group are: Essie Dalton, President; Billie Walker, Vice-President; Lucile Prater, Secretary and Treasurer; Lavada Rush, Assistant Secretary.
