HISTORY CLUB

Students possessed of historic interest organized a history club to encourage and develop a wider reading knowledge of current topics and events of the day. Each Monday from 10:45 to 11:15 found these students eager to impart some new historic interest.

Perhaps secreted within these students' minds is a vision of Washington and White House or the possibility of being President sometime. Each one was looking toward a goal but perhaps did not realize it. The fact is it takes things of this nature to encourage students to do worthwhile things. They knew they did not "have to join" the club as it was left optional to any student in the high school.

Don Chaney proved himself very capable as president during the year. Evelyn Smith, as vice-president, was always ready to "step in" if Don failed to be there. Veta Sasser was secretary and treasurer. It was her duty to notify Don if he had failed to make the club interesting, causing members to drop. Let it be said here that duty did not have to be fulfilled (Good work, Don). Clytie Inmon served as reporter.

Some very interesting and worthwhile topics of the day were discussed and argued. But all arguments were settled by the opinion of their amiable sponsor, Coach Johnson. You need no proof of his coaching ability; the same applies to his knowledge of history. We hope the dreams of these students may be fulfilled to their utmost.

HI-Y CLUB

A group of boys met in October, 1929, to form a Hi-Y Club. Charles Wight was elected as president while the vice-president's office was filled by Jack McGarry. Earl DeArcy was elected secretary and Morris Broyles was selected to act as treasurer.

The slogan of this organization is "Clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, clean athletics, and contagious Christian character."

This club meets every Wednesday in the bookkeeping room, where varied programs are presented. On Thursday the boys meet in the gym and enjoy the many sports. The club has made two trips to the Fort Davis mountains. Mr. Lee M. Nuzum is the sponsor of this bunch of ambitious, adventurous lads.
