

B. C. Henderson
High School Principal

It has always been the ambition of Wink High School to be first in the class room, on the athletic field and in spirit, and we feel that the year 1950-51 has been no exception. We believe that a student benefited is the teacher's greatest reward, and it is better for the school to make an all-around student than a scholar, but it is best to do both.

"There is a learning time in youth which, suffered to escape and no foundations laid, seldom returns."

Frank R. Barton
Elementary Principal

The greatest responsibility of education is to instill into youth the right philosophy of living. This must include faith in God and humanity. If the schools of today fail in that responsibility, then adverse world conditions are a reflection on each of us.
