

DEDICATION

Isn't it strange that you've never known
What a wonderful person you are?
You think that others much less worthy,
Excel and exceed you by far.

'Don't suppose you've ever known,
That even your presence can create joy,
And that you never stand taller or greater
Than when you stoop to help a boy....

You're a master at the art of living,
Because you know yourself -- the bad, the good,
You've stood for what you believed,
And believed for what you stood.

So, here's to you -- our own Mr. Barton,
With deepest regards and good wishes too--
This DEDICATION to show in some measure
How very fond we are of you.