SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE:

The prosperity of a nation does not depend upon its revenues, the strength of its military might or the size and beauty of its public buildings. It depends upon the number of good citizens we produce. Through education we strive to strengthen the characteristics necessary for being a good citizen. I hope when you look back on the past year that we have contributed at least a small part in preparing you to meet the problems which you will face in the future.

Frank Barton
