

Language Arts

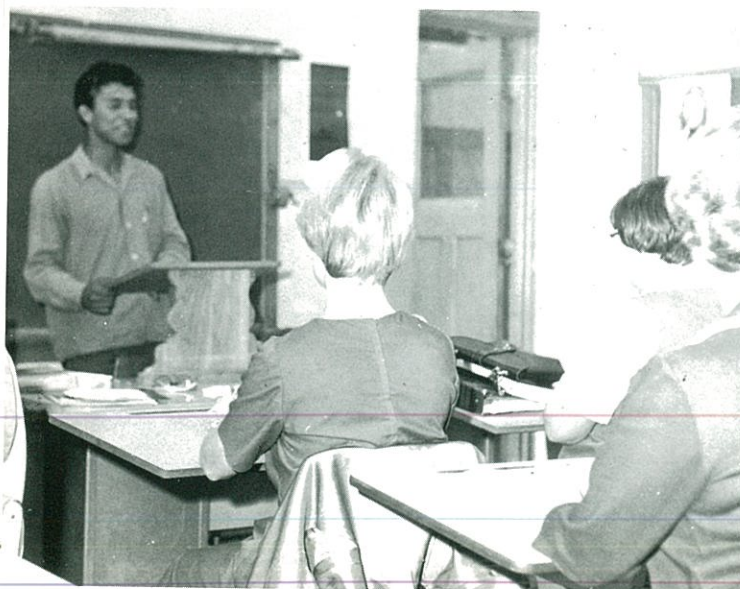

S. WHITWORTH English and Spanish
M. HOWARD English 7 and 8
E. TRIPLETT English and Speech

Language arts are of the greatest importance to the student. The purpose of English is to help the student make a practical application of grammar and to broaden his horizons by presenting to him some of the greatest works in literature.

Spanish helps the student to gain a workable use of the language and an appreciation for the culture and people of other lands.

Mathematics

Mathematics encourages discovery of new ideas, develops logical thinking and helps students to attain skill in dealing with mathematical problems.
