Happy Seconds

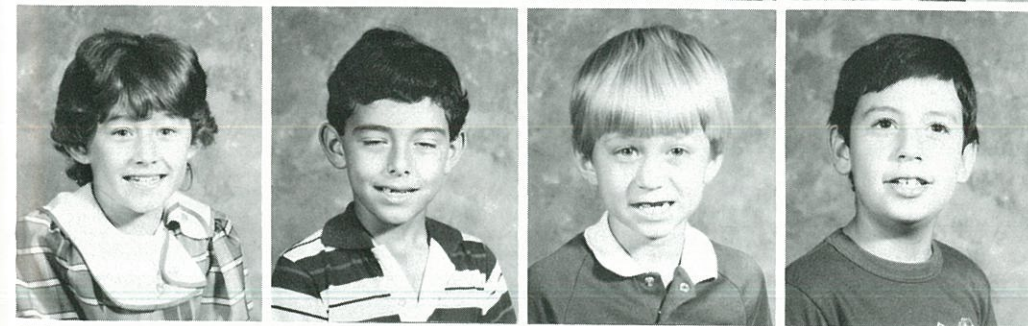

SECOND GRADERS don't have a care in the world. They're always giggling and bright eyed. THEY ARE HAPPY SECONDS.

Lunch time is one of their favorite times. Putting a seven year old in a classroom is like putting a fly in a jar or a chihuahua in a box, they get restless. So they just can't wait to get out for lunch. They enjoy the time to be around their friends and being able to cut up without getting in trouble. They also can't wait to fill their little bodies with food and happily go back to get seconds.

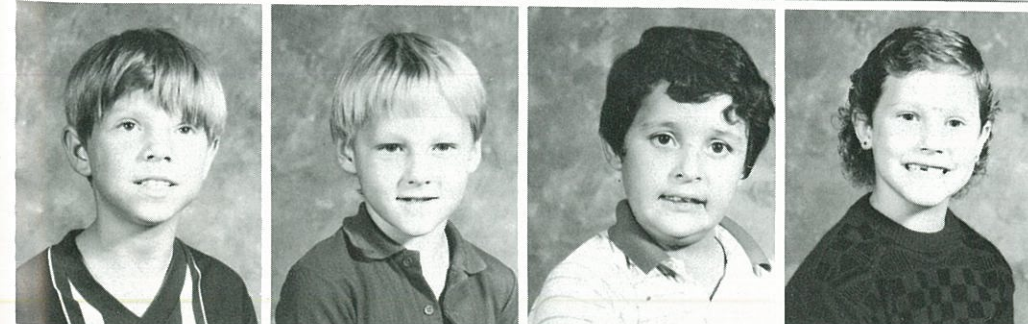

There's one thing in which second grade girls are not second. They beat the boys to the lunch line and happily enjoyed their seconds in the cafeteria.
