

The Final Credits

At the end of the year, there are many events and happenings which mark its coming. Events such as prom, baccalaureate, and the spring concert are but a few.

These pages are a tribute to the spring. The people to be remembered or honored, and the events that marked the last days of school are shown on these pages.

As the events of the last days of school approach, we begin our final credits whether we realize it or not. Students in the halls start the conversation with, "Do you remember when?"

But even as we remember the events of the past, whether they are sad or happy, we also look toward the future. "What are you taking next year?" is always a top conversation starter.

The words we say, and the events we remember as we walk the halls during the last days of school are more than just conversation starters. They are the "final credits".

Jeffrey is making his welcoming speech at the banquet as some of the guests prepare to eat. The banquet was a great success.

Jeffrey and Amy are enjoying their meal at the Junior-Senior banquet. Jeffrey also made the welcoming speech at the banquet.

Garland Franklin is getting prepared to tee-off at the Wink golf tournament. Garland was the valedictorian of the 1987 graduating class.

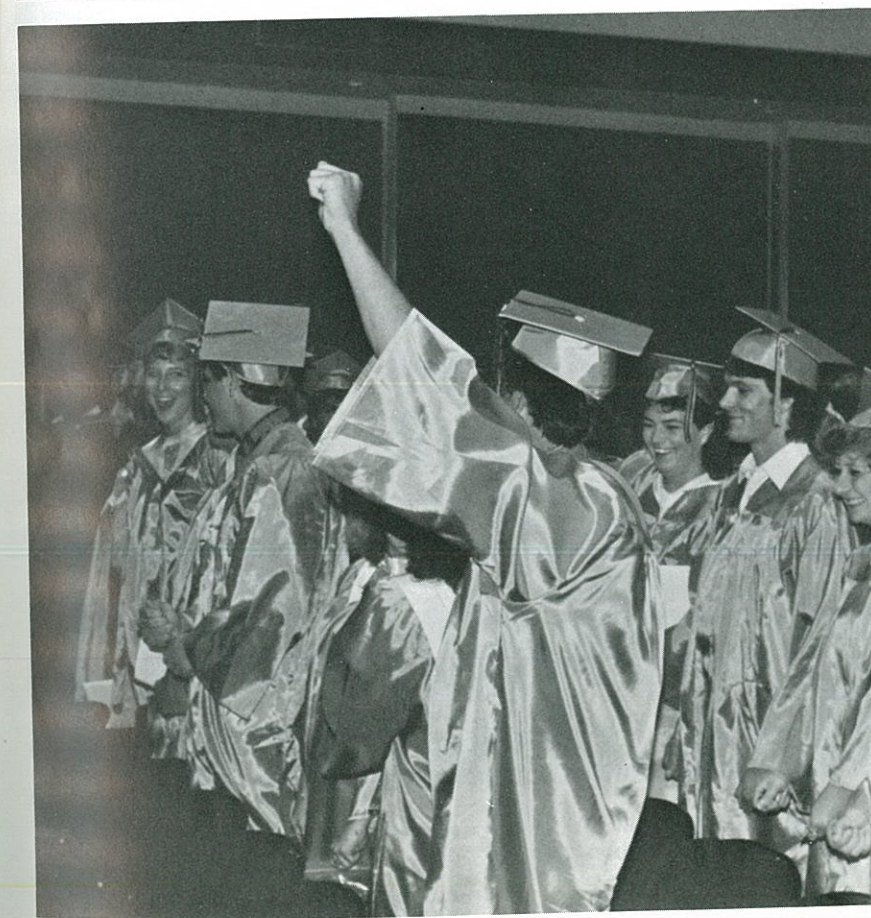

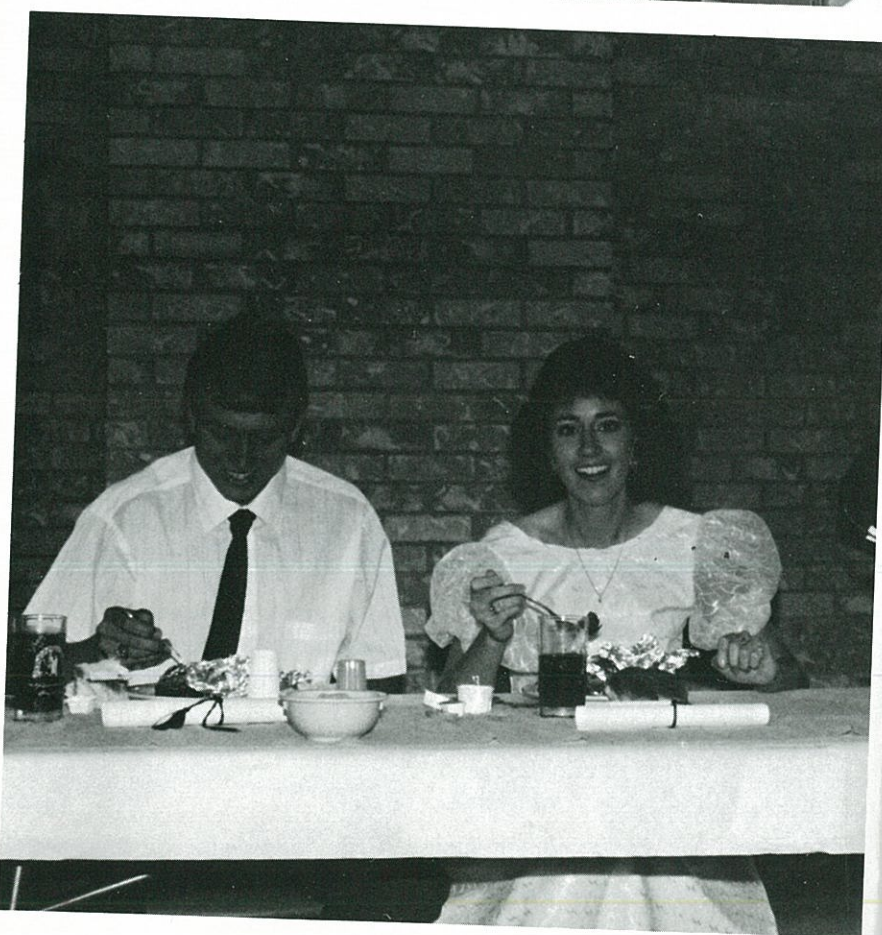

Joely Mohler is helping Brian McGuire with his government. Joely was the salutatorian of the 1987 graduating class.

Scotty is blowing a few licks at the spring concert. He played the part of Hotlips Harry in the selection, "Little Bob Riding Hood".

Mr. Sallis, Mr. Tumbo, Mrs. Winn, and Mr. Dodd (who is hiding from the camera) try their hand as musicians. They were drafted into taking part in the "Concerto for Faculty and Band".

We will always remember you; you were a big part of our everyday. Thank you for touching our lives in such a special way.

We miss you, but between us, we will "never say goodbye", because your memory will be carried in our hearts until our paths may cross again in that beautiful blue sky.
