

One Day At A Time

As each one of us walked onto the campus, we wondered what this year would hold. We wanted to make a difference and to be different, but we knew we would have to take it "One Day At A Time".

While trudging through the halls, with books piled up to our noses, our thoughts ranged anywhere from thinking about that awful English test to the upcoming football game. We often wondered how we'd make it through this long year in one piece.

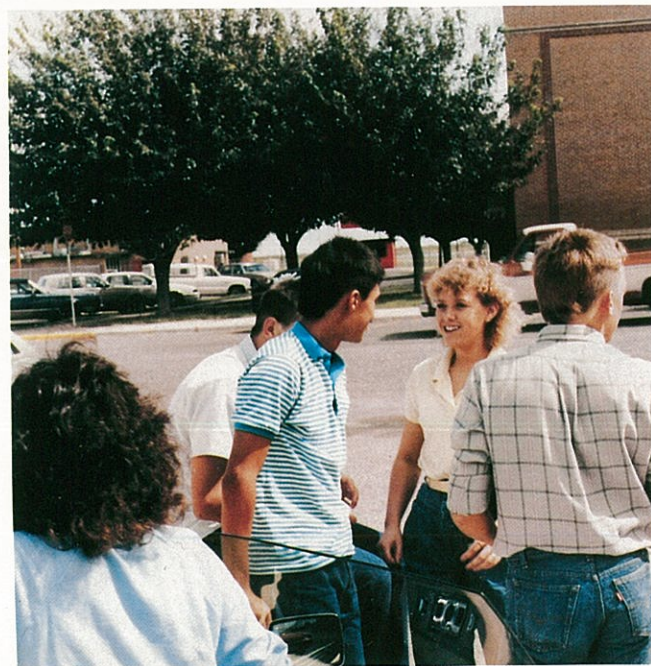

The year wouldn't seem so long though. We'd stop for a moment and think to ourselves, "It seemed like just yesterday when ..."

We all seem to want time to fly, but all of a sudden the "end" reaches us too fast and we wonder how the year went by so quickly?!

Where did all the suffering during an exam, the happiness after winning that big game, the tears cried after that awful fight with your best friend, and the laughter during Consumer class go to??

They all became a part of time and in time they became memories. A memory is a feeling, a touch, a smile, a tear and sharing that with the people around us makes it even more special. All these emotions blended together to form memories of our high school years. And while we think back on the past year, tears fill our eyes because it's all gone.

So remember, you lose a lot when you lose a memory. As you turn each page, keep in mind the laughter, the tears, the good times, and the friendship that have made this year, one to remember.

SMILE!

Kristi Jones laughs at one of Jr.'s crazy jokes. Or was she really laughing because of the wild haircut??

WHO'S THAT GUY

It's Jeff Jones showing us his impersonation of George Strait. His impersonation held true, until he began to sing.

The sun rises over the playground to announce the start of a new school year. The first day would have a great effect over the rest of the year.
