

You Don't Know What You've Got

With the end of the year finally here, the students are going wild, the teachers have gone crazy, and the seniors are just ready to "get out of here!" But although everyone is ready for a break we'll always long for these years that are behind us. We have made many memories — memories that are held within this book — memories that are held within our hearts and that will last a life time.

So, as we again have seen the mighty wildcat move through another year of domination, we have also seen him set fear in all hearts of his prey and have proudly challenged those who pass to dare enter our jungle!

Smiles "R" us!

That Colgate smile must be # 1 with John!

I don't care 'bout my bad reputation!

Look at these puppy eyes; they're pleading to get out of here!

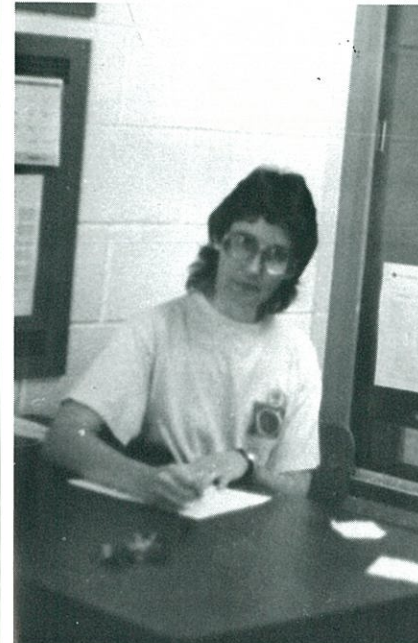

Hurry and take the picture 'cause Jimbo might run-off with Heber's corner cockroach killers!

... 'Til It Is Gone!

Now we'll go see the dolphins and the sea lions!

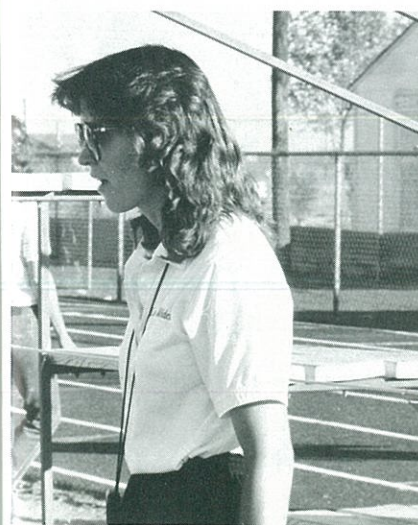

Are you sure that you want to eat that!?!?

And 1 ... and 2 ... and work ...

And you just thought that I just walked around the track!

Smile ... it makes people wonder what you're up to!

You want me to do what?

Now dang it, girls!

Stand up and cheer; everybody knows that you're here!!
