

I'll Be Your Friend, I'll Help You Carry On.

One size fits all?

If asked to describe this year's junior class one might describe them as a very different kind of high school class. In a school that is filled with friends who stick together through thick and thin, this class stands alone. Perhaps it is their many different personalities — not one person is alike. It is a class that is very unique. And although they are not alike, they go together like peanut butter and jelly. One is great, but together it is better!!

It takes special qualities to stay together as friends in a class and it is a special feeling to know that you have someone to "lean on when you are not strong."

This is a class that is taking it one day at a time — trying to be different and at the same time make a difference. While making a difference they are making memories. Memories that will last a life time and memories that will still be around when no one else is. It has been said that a lot is lost when a memory is lost so, whenever a memory feels like it is slipping away, this class will always be able to look back on the years spent making memories. They will be able to look back on the good times, the bad times, the happy times, and the sad times and proudly remember themselves as the CLASS OF 1990!

I've heard of camera hogs, but Heber is jumping at the chance for this picture!

You have now entered a new dimension — the junior class — the DEAD ZONE!

Come on, why aren't the rest of you flashing that Colgate smile?

When we leave, we won't leave quietly 'cause we're the class of 1990!

Do you really believe that consumers was the topic of this discussion?

George Ramirez
Christina Rios
Zeke Rios
Tony Romine
Adria Shuler

Thomas Stewart
Lane Thorp
Steve Turner
Michael Warner
Shellie Yates