

Checkpoint

Everyone needs a break from the same boring routine. We teenagers are no exception. After a hard day of studying, we all need a "breather".

Whether sharing a coke at Allsup's, jamming to our favorite song at the parking lot, or just taking time off in front of the auditorium, we always seem to hang out together. We always meet at our "CHECKPOINT". The football team shows its friendship by hanging out after the game.

The new seventh graders seem to enjoy junior high life.

The football team enjoys a hearty meal at Alice's before the game.

Is Michael Rasco picking up a rock to hit Kody with, or can J.R. and Trey handle him?

These kids are really enjoying the football game.

Brett, Shannon, and Chad hang out at lunch.

Is this Larry, Moe, and Curly or just the seventh graders?
