

Future Leaders of the USA

Wink High School strives to provide opportunities for its students to become leaders. Two such student bodies are the Student Council and the National Honor Society. Both groups contain students with common abilities and goals. These groups work tirelessly to improve the academics climate and student morals.

This year the Student Council has played a more active roll in planning school events. The Student Council has provided parties after home football games. They also performed a patrioted program honoring the service men and women in the Gulf War. Showing their support towards the troops they hung yellow chains in the school with the names of service men and women attached to the yellow chains. The Student Council is being sponsored by Mrs. Baker with the assistance of Miss Dodd. The Student Council has attended many workshops this year. The newly elected Student Council will attend Angelo State University in the summer for training.

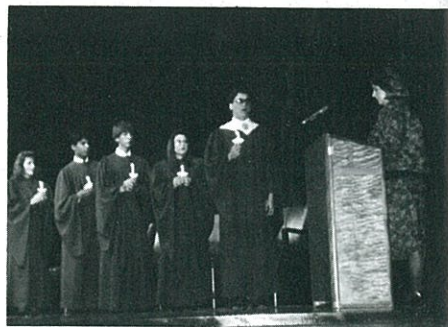

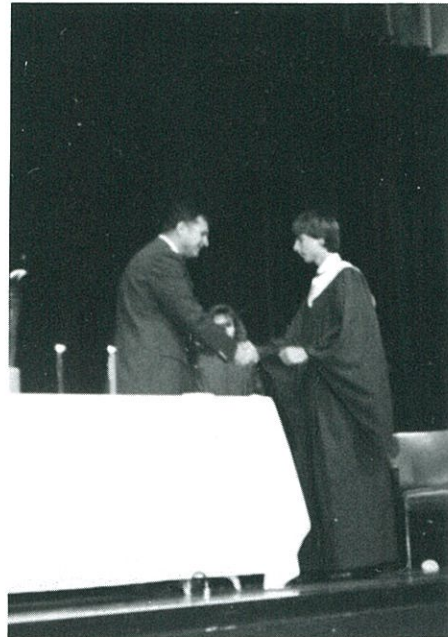

Four new members have been inducted into the National Honor Society, the new members are David Hinchliffe, Stacy McGuire, Genniva Isabell, and Rudy Salinas. These four new members have joined in with Michael Rasco who was inducted last year. They have played a very important roll this year as leaders. The National Honor Society is under the supervision of Mrs. McCallister. New officers were also elected this year Michael Rasco-President, Rudy Salinas-Vice President, Genniva Isabell-Secretary/Treasurer/Reporter.

Beverly Smith, Cheryl Baker, Robin Stephens, David Burnett, Randy Gray, and Barbara McCallister show their support during the induction of the National Honor Society.

This year, students voted for Student Council Officers in the Spanish Lab. Bradly Hawkins and Eric Warriner found time to vote.

It's hard to believe that Rudy Salinas has enough time to talk to his girlfriend Janda Northcutt.

It looks like Shawn has just told John that he'll do just about anything to be elected as Student Council Vice-President.

Decisions! Decisions!

Look they're all Juniors! Petricia Parham, David Hinchliffe, Rudy Salinas, Shawn Bustamante, Angie Adams, Genniva Isabell, and Lupe Maruffo. Each of them were either a campaign manager or a nominee.
