

JUNIOR HIGH

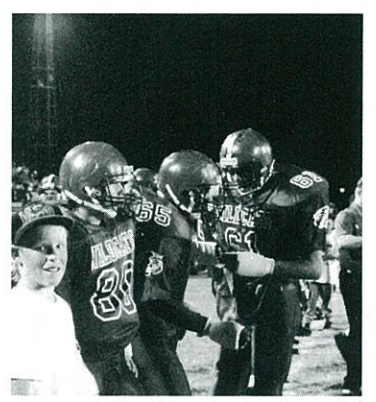

Freshmen Damian Martinez and eighth graders Tina Wilson, Amanda Horner, and Melissa Rincon discuss the homework they didn't do last night.

All Work And No Play Makes Junior High Dull!

Junior high students played quite a role in school this year. They got their first taste of secondary school, UIL and athletic events, and were prime examples for the future junior high students.

A lot of them goofed off outside the classrooms but when they got in class they tried to be all work and no play!

Zachary Dewell helps out as a manager on the varsity sidelines.

Seventh graders Joni Clark, Amy Hawkins, Twila McKee and Jennifer McCalib get ready to cheer for their class during the pep rally.

Sheldon Claborn, Eric Warriner, Jason Moya, Alan Watts, Robert Rios, and Jason Berta support their favorite teams by wearing "sporty" looking Cowboys and Bulls jackets.
