

Jr. High Girls Kick a Little!

The philosophy of Coach Paula Kay Lockhart and her seventh and eighth grade girls basketball teams was good defense and good offense, and each team's record shows that they played true to their beliefs. The seventh grade team posted a record of 11-3 and the eighth grade team had a record of 13-3. This made for a most enjoyable season for the coach, the teams, and their many fans.

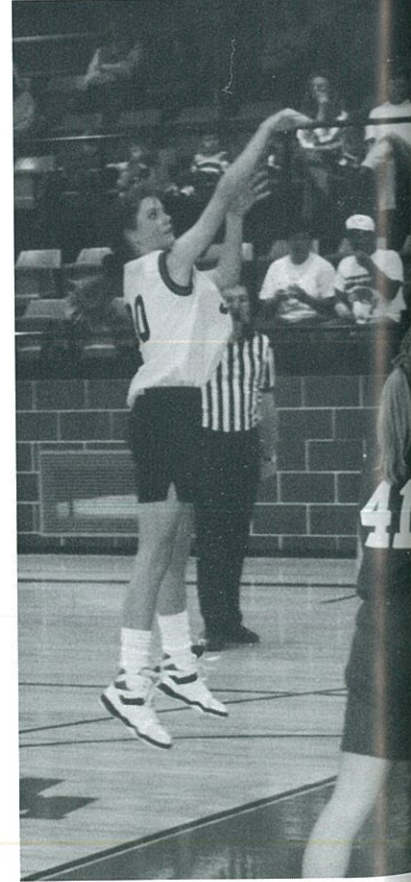

Eighth graders Amber Robertson, Jess Anne Fernandes, and Casie Slaughter watch Michelle Harbin's ball go through the basket.

Eighth Grader Robin Warbois works her way out of a crowd of Buena Vista defenders.

Seventh grader April Underwood uses good defensive techniques.

Seventh graders Mandi McCallister and Kenna Claborn display sound dribbling and shooting styles.
