

Junior High Scholars Keep U.I.L. Literary Championship

Wink Junior High students scored 267.67 points to keep a string of District U.I.L. Literary Championships alive. Students scored points in every event. First place medals went to several students including: Mandi McCallister, spelling, 7th. grade dictionary skills, and 7th. grade maps, graphs, and charts; Casey Mc Callister, number sense; Erin Wolf, calculator applications; and Michelle Harbin, 8th. grade dictionary. In addition, Wink students took second place in four events and third in seven.

Junior High students prepared for district by competing at the Fort Stockton Invitational U.I.L. Meet. Seventh graders Adriana Soltero, Julie Davis, and Mandi McCallister, and eighth graders, Jess Anne Fernandes and Michelle Harbin had fun.

Eighth graders Geanna Baker, Jess Anne Fernandes, Amber Robertson, and Jennifer McGehee find 'togetherness' helps an eight period day go by quickly.

Eighth graders, such as Casie Slaughter, were a big part of the Baad Cat Band.

Eight grade U.I.L. contestants (top to bottom): Jess Anne Fernandes, Isaac Ojeda, Justin Hamm, Doro Mendoza, Geanna Baker, Erin Wolf, Richard Dancer, Michelle Harbin, and Tim Martin.

Seventh grade U.I.L. contestants (top to bottom): Casey McCallister, Steaven Grubbs, Sam Haring, Ryan Thomas, Crystal Smith, April Underwood, Julie Davis, Mandi McCallister, and Marcie McCallister.

Seventh graders Misty Warren, Aaron Treadwell, Shannon Garratt, and Jennifer Hawkins looked like just some of the guys on 'Switch Day.'

Marci and Mandi McCallister got into the '60's Look' for Spirit Week.

Would you believe? Sam Haring and Casey McCallister help decorate the seventh grade door on 'Switch Day.'
