Take this job and . . . Love It!

Teaching is not an 'eight to five' job. Teachers, and especially coaches, spend many hours a day on the job. From January until after one-act-play competition in March, perhaps no one at WHS spends more hours on the job than Chrissie Ethridge, play director. Love for her students and their enthusiasm for their performance keeps 'Ms. E' going. Here she and crew members Kimberly Hawkins and Ashley Robertson double check stop watches before a dress rehearsal.

Mr. Tom Burns, shown presenting plaques to drum major Shawn Matthews and assistant drum major Amanda Gonzales, loves music and young people. Put these two loves together and you get a combination that keeps the Baad Cat Band at the top. When the bell rings at eight o'clock each morning, band members know Mr. Burns will be waiting to push them to the limit of their musical ability. The dedication, determination, and energy spent in the band hall pays off with excellence on the marching field and in the concert hall.
