

By the end of October when it came time for the Spook Parade, kindergarten students Amy Austin, Jimmie Estep and Jacob Jones seem to be fast friends.

First grader Corey Lujan is just about ready to take the stage as a little lamb for his part in the Elementary Christmas Play.

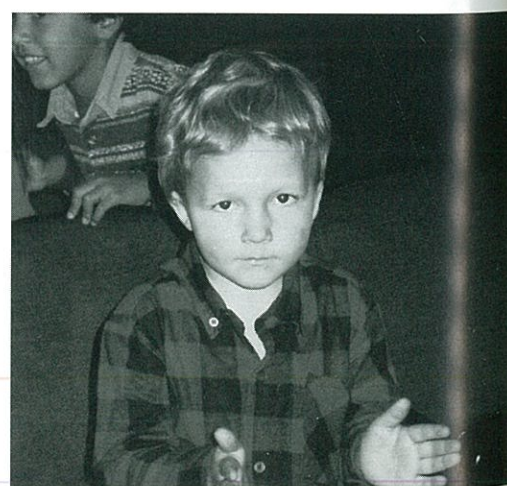

Pep rallies bring out the Wildcat Spirit in even the youngest students. First graders Amber Davis and Kelsey Wolf join their classmates in cheering on the football team.

A spirit tee shirt and Wildcat mask make it easy to see which team kindergartener Jessica Macon is backing.

By the time the afternoon pep rally rolls around a kindergarten student has had a long day, but Jeffrey Shirey finds the energy to cheer on the Cats.
