Hard Work Reaps Reward for Title I Reading Program

During the 1997-98 school year, the Elementary Title I Program and its director, Mrs. Sandy McCallister acquired special recognition by receiving a Title I Distinguished School Certificate of Commendation.

Wink was one of only 110 schools from a field of four thousand to earn this honor given for exemplary TAAS scores of students in Title I reading programs.

The Texas Educational Association presented Mrs. McCallister and Superintendent Maxie Watts with the award on April 7, 1998, in Austin.

Mrs. McCallister has been teaching Title I reading for 25 years. She uses innovative assignments to teach TAAS skills, but more importantly, she instills in her students a love of reading.

Mrs. McCallister is quick to point out that the TAAS success represents a united effort by all of the elementary staff.

"We received this award, not just because of my work, but through the hard work of all elementary staff and students," Mrs. McCallister said.
