

Necessity is the mother of invention. This saying proves true in biology class when sophomore Abigail Azima finds a new use for a Kleenex when she needs a mask to block toxic fumes.

Bring on the clowns! Student council member Mallory Bryan donned a silly wig and grease paint at Halloween and took part in the council's Trick or Treat Safety presentation to elementary students.

Dude Looks Like a Lady! Senior football captain Doro Mendoza trades places and takes on the role of cheerleader to cheer for the Lady Cat volleyball team.

Just Want to Dance with You! Seniors Erin Wolf and Dustin Loftin enjoy a dance at the junior-senior prom on February 13.

We Are the Champions! The Lady Cats celebrate their victory over Fort Hancock in the area round of the volleyball playoffs. This was just the first of many celebrations that would follow as the team made it all the way to the State Championship game for the first time since 1989.

Let's Get Ready to Rumble! It's time for another victory! Senior football captain Justin Hamm and future Wildcat Jacob Garcia exit the auditorium after a Friday pep-rally.

The world around us spins at a hectic pace with a new millennium looming on the horizon. Some predict a 'Y2K' computer glitch will bring about unprecedented chaos. In Washington, President Bill Clinton's impeachment hearing and trial go on and on. Another invasion of Iraq occurs. Oil prices fall to an all-time low, plunging Winkler County and the rest of the Permian Basin into a severe economic depression. Yet in the midst of this turmoil, students at Wink High School keep their attention focused on matters closer at hand. Wildcats excel in both academic and athletic pursuits. By putting forth nothing less than their best, the Wink tradition of pride grows to an all time high. As the twentieth century ticks away, Wildcats push themselves to the limit while living . . .
