

To mark the anniversary of the 09/11/01 terrorist attacks, seniors Cassidy Bradley and Cory Calaway, along with junior Cody Stephens, glue crosses, symbolizing lives lost during this national tragedy, onto a large poster which was hung in the upstairs hallway.

Varsity cheerleader Brelee Drake passes time in the library as the clock slowly ticks toward the afternoon Homecoming pep rally.

Lighting a fire

Lindsay Graham

Garrett Wolf

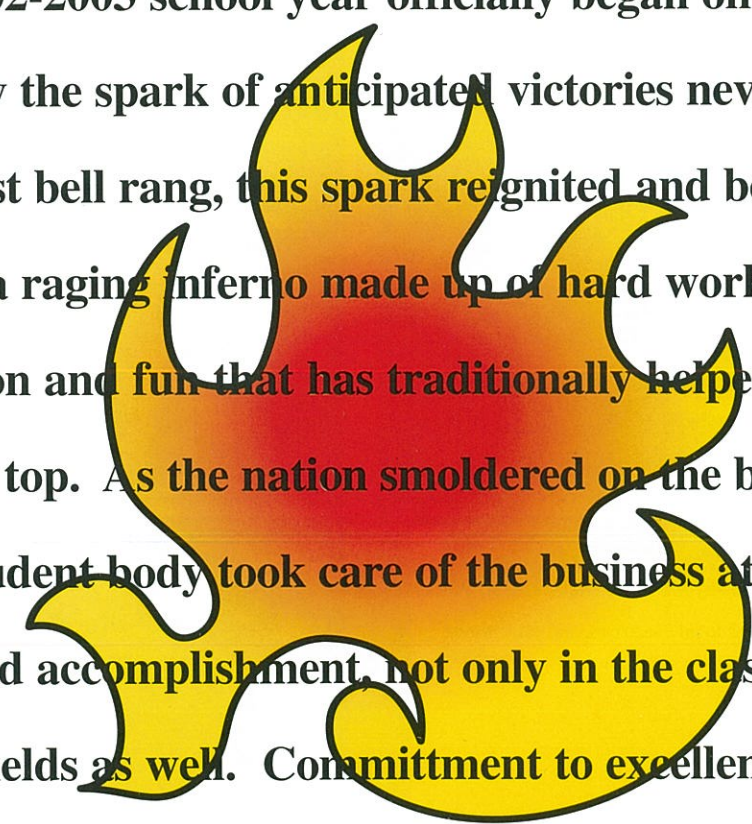

Donna Turpin

Gil Shackelford

and letting it spread

The 2002-2003 school year officially began on August 19, but in reality the spark of anticipated victories never dies. Once the first bell rang, this spark reignited and began to spread into a raging inferno made up of hard work, effort, determination and fun that has traditionally helped Wildcats come out on top. As the nation smoldered on the brink of war, the Wink student body took care of the business at hand and found desired accomplishment, not only in the classrooms, but on playing fields as well. Commitment to excellence continues to thrive and cannot be extinguished.

Jennifer Adams proudly displays her long awaited senior ring.

The Wildcat football team and cheerleaders celebrate by showing high fives representing Coach Randy Tankersley's fiftieth career win as a head coach. The victory came with a 59-0 defeat of the Garden City Bearkats.

