Girls run their way to regional

*Some people want it to happen;
some wish it would happen;
others make it happen!*

The girls cross country team made school history in the fall of '03 by becoming the first cross country team to advance to the regional meet. This feat was accomplished when the team finished second at district behind the strong Iraan runners. The team, consisting of only one senior, two junior, three sophomores and one freshman, put forth a great effort on a difficult course in Lubbock to finish fourth. The young team, with this added experience, will likely be a powerhouse in IA Cross Country next fall.

Randi Shackelford, Jennifer Adams, Alexys Dodd and Jessica Youngblood get stretched and ready for the race they've been working and waiting for.

Freshman Coty Carroll sets a fast pace as he runs his way around the cross country course at Lamesa.

Senior Garrett Wolf races to the finish-line at district where he ran a time of 19:35.

As the van carrying the girls' team to the regional meet pulls away from campus, a sign proclaiming their best wishes for the Wildcat football team is displayed on the back doors.
