

In a rebuilding year, the Wildcat basketball team, under the direction of Coach Jesse Jones, played with heart and dedication, improving their skills throughout the season. The squad, made up of two seniors, two juniors, and numerous underclassmen, had their work cut out for them against more seasoned opponents. However, these obstacles did not deter the Cats from playing to win. With much returning talent, the team and their fans know that the future looks bright for the Cats!

Coach Jones

The highlight of the 2008-2009 basketball season was definitely making the play-offs. I am most proud of the team's hard work at improving their game. A lot of that can be contributed to the seniors who really worked hard this year.

The team gave extra effort all year long. They came a long way as players and as a team. They improved tremendously over the course of the season which showed in the play-off game against Stanton.
