LAURA RODRIGUEZ

To the world: I give you a piece of my heart. Be kind to her, show her how to be strong & independent. Let her fall, so that she may be reminded to accept what is, let go of what was, and have faith in what will be.

To my daughter: I gave you roots, now go find your wings and soar.

We love you!
Mom & Emily

To My Son-

Always remember you are:
Braver than you believe...
Stronger than you seem...
Smarter than you think...
And loved more than you know.

ANNIE TRUJILLO

Annie,

You are on the verge of another milestone that involves major change and transition. As your mom, I learned quickly that you weren't always looking for me to give you solutions, but to just listen...and I did. I learned that you have a tremendous moral compass, and you have compassion for others. You also know that any time spent with your gunka and grandmaw is never wasted, and you forgive and don't hold grudges. High school wasn't always easy and no one leaves without any scars. Those scars taught you about your strengths, and built your inner resolve. You displayed courage to stay you and to not follow the crowd. You worked hard and you saw it pay off. Thank you for being my daughter; I couldn't be prouder.

Love, Mom

She's got a smile it seems to me
Reminds me of childhood memories
Where everything
Was as fresh as the bright blue sky
Now and then when I see her face
She takes me away to that special place
And if I'd stare too long
I'd probably break down and cry

You are my blue crayon, the one I never have enough of, the one I use to color my sky.
Congrats son!

JOSH ZENGER

How much do I love you, it's really easy for me.
I love you as much as a fish loves the sea.
I love you as much as a rocket loves space.
I love you as much as a red car loves to race.
I love you as much as a kite loves to soar.
I love you as much as a lion loves to roar.
I love you as much as the wind loves to blow.
I love you as much as children love snow.
I love you as much as monkeys love to swing.
I love you as much as kittens love string.
This much I love you and this much I adore.
And when you wake tomorrow,
I'll love you even more.

God loves you and we love you,
Wes & Mom
